BOOK NUMBER 10
TO THE PRINTER

WE have issued so many specimen books and have written so many prefaces during the last 45 years that we might be excused and even applauded for omitting entirely the Foreword. But there are a few notable things about this book which makes it so different from any other ever issued that they are worth talking about:

It is devoted entirely to Type, Borders and Ornaments. It is strictly a TYPOGRAPHICAL BOOK.

It shows only Modern Type—type to be used today—contains no obsolete or doubtful faces. Every series is what the Printer needs, uses and wants—NOW.

It shows Point set, Point line, and Point body type.

Every face is made of our SUPERIOR COPPER-MIXED METAL.

It shows whole families of type—complete handsome families of various branches and styles—the kind the Printers like to buy, and that help to make printing an art.

It shows type of which every face, style, font and letter is uniformly deep cut—by reason of which fact it prints clearer and lasts longer than any other made. Deep counters are expensive, but they spell G-O-O-D T-Y-P-E.

There are enough (not too many) faces displayed, enough brass rule effects given, enough color used, enough ornaments and borders employed to illustrate and suggest the uses of these articles without over-doing the subject.

A very complete line of Accents can be furnished for every face in this book.

The paper is of good quality, but not so superfine that it makes the contents appear better than they are likely to appear in regular use.

The Italics shown in this book, sizes 24 Point and larger, are supported from foot to face by being cast in our offset mold and therefore cannot break off on press or in the stereotyping process.

This book is compact and handy; searching for a face or a family, you will easily and quickly find it; looking for the book you will find it in its natural place, right by your elbow.

It is essentially a Modern Handy Book of Preferred Faces.

We send it to you with the hope and expectation that it will enable you to do more and better work with greater pleasure and profit. May its mission be fulfilled!

Printing is the art of producing impressions, from characters or figures, on paper or any other substance. There are several distinct branches of this important art:—the printing of books with movable types, the printing of engraved copper and steel plates, and the taking of impressions from stone, called lithography. We have now to describe the printing of books or sheets with movable types, generally called letter-press printing, and which may undoubtedly be esteemed the greatest of all human inventions. The art of printing dates from comparatively modern origin, only four hundred years having elapsed since the first book was issued from the press; yet we have proofs that the principles upon which it was ultimately developed existed among the ancient Assyrian nations. Entire and indented bricks of the famed city and tower of Babylon have been found stamped with various symbolic figures and hieroglyphic characters. In this, however, as in any similar relic of antiquity, the object which stamped the figures was in one block or piece, and could therefore be employed only for one distinct subject. This, though a kind of printing, was totally useless for the propagation of literature, on account both of its inconvenience and idleness. The Chinese are the only existing people who still pursue this rude mode of printing by stamping paper with blocks of wood. The work which they intend to have printed is, in the first place, carefully written upon sheets of thin transparent paper, each of these sheets is then cut, with the face downwards, upon a thin dry plate.

HOUR COST COMPOSITION

PRODUCTION MORE EXPENSIVE THAN MACHINE MANUFACTURERS CLAIM.

In six large cities the hour cost is $1.60, and twelve small cities show no decrease.

Up to a year or so ago, no one knew anything of the cost of machine composition, and the only figures given out regarding cost of production were those carefully worked out for the benefit of the trade and duly published. A recent bulletin of the Printing Exceptional Club of Chicago has collated a vast amount of information regarding the cost of production in every department of printing, including linotype and monotype composition. The Machine Composition Club of Chicago has also succeeded in adapting the Standard Cost System to the needs of its members and has thus secured some valuable data on the cost of production of every type of machine.

From a comparison of reliable data received from city plants and from country offices, we find that the cost of linotype composition does not vary much in different cities, while it does

PRINTING is the art of producing impressions, from characters or figures, on paper or any other substance. There are several distinct branches of this important art—as the printing of books with movable types, the printing of engraved copper and steel plates, and the taking of impressions from stone, called lithography. We have now to describe the printing of books or sheets with movable types, generally called letter-press printing, and which may undoubtedly be esteemed the greatest of all human inventions. The art of printing is of comparatively modern origin, only four hundred years having elapsed since the first book was issued from the press; yet we have proofs that the principles upon which it was ultimately developed existed among the ancient Assyrian nations. Entire and undecayed bricks of the famed city and tower of Babylon have been found stamped with various symbolic figures and hieroglyphic characters. In this, however, as in any similar relic of antiquity, the object which stamped the figures was in one block or piece, and could therefore be employed only for one distinct subject. This, though a kind of printing, was totally useless for the propagation of literature, on account both of its expensiveness and tediousness. The Chinese are the only existing people who still preserve this rude mode of printing by stamping paper with blocks of wood. The work which they intend to have printed is, in the first place, carefully written upon sheets of thin transparent paper; each of these sheets is glued, with the face downwards, upon a thin tablet of hard wood, and the engraver then, with proper instruments, cuts away the wood in all those parts on which nothing is traced, thus leaving the transcribed characters in relief, and ready for printing. In this way, as many tablets are necessary as there are written pages. No press is used; but when the ink is laid on, and the paper carefully placed above it, a brush is passed over with the proper degree of pressure. A similar kind of printing by blocks, for the production of playing cards and rude pictures of sculptured subjects, was in use in Europe towards the end of the fourteenth century. But in all this there was but little merit. The great discovery was that of forming every letter or character of the alphabet separately, as to be capable of rearrangement, and forming in succession the pages of a work, thereby avoiding the interminable labor of cutting new blocks of types for every page. The credit of the discovery of this simple yet marvelous art is centered by the Dutch, in favor of Lawrence Coster, and the Germans, on behalf of Johann Gutenberg, of the Gutenberg family. In all probability, the discovery was made almost simultaneously—such is the way being consistent with the general mental progress of the period, and the secrecy with which both inventors at first maintained respecting their secret. The types first employed were of wood, but soon the practice of casting them in metal was introduced. The earliest

BEING well acquainted with the French language, and trained in diplomacy during his residence abroad, he was selected, with Lee and Deane, as ambassador, where he succeeded in obtaining valuable aid for the struggling Colonies. He arrived in France in December, 1776, and lived there the following nine years. His popularity was remarkable among all classes of the French people, and he represented his country with dignity and ability. He became sole ambassador in 1779. Two years later, having reached his seventy-fifth year, he was desirous of retiring, but his valuable services could not be dispensed with and he was appointed commissioner, with Adams and Jay, to negotiate with Great Britain for peace. After terms were agreed upon, and treaty signed, he once more applied for permission to retire, which was granted in March, 1785, Thomas Jefferson appointed to succeed him. His country demanded his services again, and he was elected President of Pennsylvania; he held the office for three years. He was a member of the Constitutional Convention, and aided materially in the formation of the new government, disregarding growing infirmities and his advancing age, he always retained his faculties.

HE above design shows our new combination border, its a very beautiful creation, which may be adapted to a great variety of uses. Ambitious printers should not hesitate to improve the appearance of their work with our new borders.

The Land of the Pharaohs

AN INTERESTING PART OF EGYPT WHERE THE BEAUTIFUL SCENES AND REMARKABLE HISTORIC RUINS ARE A FEATURE

In all the world, no country has seen more change in methods and safety of travel in the last few years than has Egypt. In the organization of comfort for tourists experts have expended their best energies in devising ways by which access can be had to sights of greatest interest at the least cost of time and trouble. There was a day not long ago when a visit to Cairo, Alexandria, the Pyramids, and the Sphinx, was the limit of possibility for the most daring traveler, and then a great expenditure of money and labor was involved. Now it is but the beginning of a journey in Egypt. The pilgrim who remembers Gordon's brave fight and death may, thank the Lord Kitchener's brilliant re-conquest of the Soudan region, extend his tour to Khartoum and the upper Soudan without great difficulty, and it will not be long until the lakes of Central Africa and the head waters of the Nile, the scenes of infinite labor and bravery on the part of Speke and Baker and Livingstone and Stanley, may be included in the itinerary of a personally conducted excursion, with a coupon ticket as the guarantee of practicability.

Though Cairo is only about sixty miles in direct line from Suez, the railway makes the journey more than double that distance. It follows the west bank of the canal to Ismailia, then turns directly westward along the bank of the fresh water canal into the delta of the Nile. The line passes through a country which was the scene of much of the fighting between British troops and those of Arabi Pasha in 1882. This same fertile region, the delta, was the scene of most of the labors of Joseph in the time of the Pharaohs, and it was from here, with the Exodus, that the captivity of the Jews...

A Guaranteed Investment

Sound Business
Well managed, with large capital to conduct it, operated under conservative principles presents the staple and paying form of investment.

During past year success after success has proven with a combination of capital and good business judgment the greatest results are obtained in business life. This is due to the fact that in the consolidation of interests we have more capital, more brains, more push and energy, which are the essential principles of success. These facts were appreciated by us in the organization of this company, as it would be impossible to pursue the outlined plans by any individual. An idea of the many opportunities our charter enables us to grasp with their money-making powers is shown on the following pages and will pay you to look them all over carefully and investigate.

BABCOCK OPTIMUS PRESSES

Embracing one of the greatest of recent improvements in flat-bed presses, the Optimus bed motion is one of the finest applications of power ever made. It is correct, the simplest and strongest mechanism used for operating a printing press bed. It has the easy directness of a short shaft with a driving pulley at one end and star-gear at the other. A device of balls and sockets, made a part of the shaft, permits one end of the shaft to be deflected so that in one direction it drives the bed above the rack and is below it in the other. It is a compact, rotary, primary motion, operating harmoniously with the matchless precision that gives unvarying register between bed and cylinder, produces runs of three-quarters of a million with the plates still good, and all with unexampled endurance to itself.

There is but one rack, one point of propulsive thrust. At each end of the rack is a large steel ball which the star-gear receives in a corresponding socket, grasping it much as a human hand grasps a baseball, the broad contact covering half of the ball's surface. Reverse is made while these are together, resulting in the bed being stopped and reversed with a perfect crank action. There is no looseness or lost motion; the reverse is smooth and easy. Balls and socket are hardened steel, ground to perfect fit. Old machines reverse as quietly as new, with perfect bed-and-cylinder register. The star-gear shoes are hardened steel, small, and accurately curved to fit the roll. They are bolted in position, and wear for years. Shoes, balls, sockets and rack are made by specially invented machines of unerring performance.

The bed driving rack is at the center of the load, not at the center of the bed. It is placed where it should be, and where it is correct mechanically. It occupies small space, keeps the bed low, and makes room for an impression girt twice as strong as any other, giving us the most rigid press known.

The air-spring is readily adjusted without tool. The piston is at extreme end of bed where its utility is the greatest.

There is but one mechanical principle that is best for a given purpose. The Optimus ball and socket drive embodies the basic element for best operating a reciprocating bed. It has been practically unchanged for a dozen years. Not a single user has complained of it.

SELECTING CIGARS

Millions Spent on Smoking

Every smoker every time he smokes invests an installment on this immense amount. The manner of buying cigars has in the past been due to the absence of any reliable standard of cigar values. Until recently all but the highest priced cigars had always been sold without any definite assurance as to their quality or value and in nearly every case the responsibility of the retail dealer for cigars he sold were undependable.

The smoker of medium priced cigars has been at the mercy of thousands of brand names, plenty of them merely stock labels that left room for plain robbery.

Five years ago the dealer could offer the public no definite, reliable assurance of the quality of the cigars he sold, and the smokers of medium priced cigars could could not prevent these impositions. Today conditions are changed. In the past few years cigar quality has been immeasurably improved, and the new standard of quality is distinguished by a mark on every cigar.

How You Can Receive Value

The Geo. F. Haniman Cigar Company produces a great many classes of cigars, of characteristics varied to suit every whim and variety of the public taste. No one brand will suit all smokers, nor is any one man sure to be suited with any one brand for any considerable time.

What you want is a guarantee that covers a lot of brands, of different characteristics, so that you may make a selection in the comfortable assurance that whatever cigar suits your taste it will be the best value your money can buy and always uniform in quality and quantity as long as you smoke them continually.

The Geo. F. Haniman Cigar Company have established a distinctive mark of merit—a reliable standard of cigar qualities—this "H" mark of merit. Fundamentally this merit mark stands for honest cigar value in whatever cigar, wherever you buy it, and will prove to your own satisfaction to be generally the best made cigar for the same low price, as any other brand on the market.

The Investigating Committee Hears Evidence of Eight Building Inspectors

ALL ATTEMPT TO SHIFT BLAME

More than sixty theatres in Juneeville are alleged to be so weak structurally that they would cave in under a load test they should support if honestly built. Those who patronize these unsafe houses run a risk of not coming

R. C. Williamson of the public action committee of the Juneeville Architects' Business Association have notified Alderman J. H. Patterson, chairman of the council committee investigating the cause of the Meade theatre collapse, that such is the condition of many theaters elsewhere.

He said there are scores of legal fire-traps throughout the village, and we might expect a collapse or holocaust at any time. Contractors and architects should be held responsible, and extreme laws made to punish all violations, no matter how slight. graft governs too many officials and private citizens in all walks of life. TERRA NOVA ARRIVES IN PORT

Commander Forbids His Subordinates to Speak of Tragic Side of Expedition

CHRISTCHURCH, New Zealand, Feb. 12.—The Nova Terra, the vessel which took Captain Robert F. Scott to the Antarctic on his way to the south pole and which returned there to bring him back, but instead brought the news of his and his four companions' heroic death, arrived in port this morning.

The Terra Nova brought every written record of the southern party, including the private diaries, which will be handed to the relatives of the dead explorers.

Captain Scott kept a daily record until March 24 and spent the last day writing messages to the public.

The bodies could have been brought back, according to Commander Evans, but all agreed to leave them in their white mantle, where they had worked and died.

The Terra Nova will sail for home
